

January 29, 2007

Industry News

01/29/2007, 11:46 AM ET

Trammell Crow's Call Center Division Forms New Company

Site Selection Group offers global location strategies.

Trammell Crow Company has spun-off its Call Center Site Selection Group to create Dallas-based Site Selection Group, a global location strategies company.

Site Selection Group, a full-service location advisory firm, provides global services for office and industrial projects, such as call centers, business processing functions, headquarters, R&D, distribution centers and manufacturing operations.

Site Selection Group's services include strategic planning, site-selection consulting, economic incentive services, brokerage services, portfolio administration, construction management and economic development services for a wide variety of audiences. Also, Site Selection Group consults economic development agencies on methodologies to increase the economic growth of their communities by attracting corporations to their area.